STANDARD: There shall be written policy, procedure, and practice governing how juvenile will be selected for substance abuse testing. If the court orders substance abuse testing, a substance abuse test shall be conducted on every juvenile during orientation and as needed thereafter until discharged from supervision. Only staff of the same sex as the juvenile may directly observe the collection.

Substance abuse testing shall be random, based on reasonable suspicion, or a condition of supervision. Community Supervision Officers should be allowed to test when; in their professional opinion it is in the best interest of the juvenile, the agency, and public safety to do so.

Testing considerations shall include, but are not limited to:

- When a new arrest occurs (especially for a drug offense) and the juvenile is found to be under the influence of a prohibited substance.
- When a prohibited substance is found in the juvenile's possession, or in an area controlled or occupied by the juvenile.
- When a juvenile demonstrates patterns of behavior, which may indicate prohibited substance use. The Community Supervision Officer shall consider a juvenile past and current substance abuse history, treatment history and information received from collateral sources when deciding whether or not to test.

DISCUSSION: None
